En dehors du silence, il y aura du bruit // bodies, objects, the piano, the gramophone, the harmonium, the voice, the electric guitar, and mobile devices // technology splits the sounds and send them to your mobile device
Digital cut*up poetry cycle.

when technology fragments and disperse what is already noise what we arrive at is a resist, more immersive concept of 'noise'.
your noise or mine?
our noises together.
losing themselves
and yet uniting us.

when silent screams
are pushed through tiny metallic holes glitched and cut-up muted at times by your sweaty fingers who is in control
how then do we arrive at noise
